Recorded Statements Review

Heather Lindsay / Heather Fowle

23 messages | August 2025 - October 2026

Heather, this review brings together your recorded messages in time order. Each entry starts with the conversation background, followed by the edited transcript and the audio model's classification.

Sixteen recordings are from August-September 2025 and seven are from October 2026. Two near-silent recordings were excluded.

About the selected excerpts

For longer recordings, only selected passages are shown. An ellipsis (…) marks omitted words. The excerpts retain the wording of the edited transcripts. [Unclear] marks words not confirmed. A model label does not establish whether a statement was true or false.

Conversation: Jael Law

CONVERSATION CONTEXT

Heather, on this recording you are speaking to Jael Law. You answer questions about a man named Leroy and whether you visited a certain street. You say you do not remember going there. Then you explain why you left an earlier situation. You describe losing your job, being stranded in Midland, and staying at a shelter. You also apologize to Jael for bringing problems into their life.

SELECTED TRANSCRIPT EXCERPTS

... I felt that it's so funny,

... Um, the only Leroy that I can remember is, uh, Older Mexican guy named Leroy, but he was from Trinity, um, he liked to drink, he was real cold, crazy, um, crazy Mexican dude.

... it seems like I've ran across the Leroy before,

... I wouldn't blame you if you didn't speak to me again because it was fucked up and I really do apologize,

... After they got invited me over here, and I didn't even do nothing wrong to get fired.

... I asked why am I being fired?

... So, now I'm here at this fucking safe place, it's a shelter, um, and here in the midland, in the middle, nowhere, um, but I'm doing it, and ain't nobody fucking doing it for me, and ain't nobody trying to fucking help me. ...

Conversation: Jael Law

CONVERSATION CONTEXT

Heather, here you ask Jael about work. You remember Jael being willing to work even when life was hard. You know transportation has been a problem, but you want to understand what else happened.

EDITED TRANSCRIPT

I only ask because I know that I know you enjoyed working and you're very motivated and that didn't really stop you from going to work So I'm just trying to figure out I know the transportation is a motherfucker But other than that what—talk to me.

Conversation: Jael Law

CONVERSATION CONTEXT

Heather, you are trying to encourage Jael during a difficult time in Channelview. You talk about the risk of other people taking advantage of Jael. You are especially worried about the two animals Jael is caring for. Your message is to stay careful, keep going, and not lose hope.

SELECTED TRANSCRIPT EXCERPTS

Well, I understand Don't let these people drag you understand yourself Say as little as possible um I know these people in Channelview and it is a motherfucker.

Trust me.

I know One thing I don't know is where it will be like with two babies out there And so I know you're having a super hard time.

... Just keep your head up Keep your head up and stay strong.

... I couldn't even imagine because I had a hell of a hard time being out there by myself So I couldn't even imagine being out there with the babies So just stay close to them and and Things are all gonna fall into place Just you know keep your head up and Like because it's just say as little as possible like it's really not their business You know what I'm saying? ...

Conversation: Brandon Aldridge

CONVERSATION CONTEXT

Heather, in this message to Brandon Aldridge, you talk about a police report. You say a woman told police where someone called Snow was located. You believe that information led police to find Snow. You are describing an allegation from the report, not an event you say you witnessed yourself.

EDITED TRANSCRIPT

Man, Carl, she is a snitch for real, like freaking, so I was reading them in the police reports, and freaking, she did the,

so the cops had the, the cops had had her and so they're going to let Snow go and then she turned around and she told the cops where Snow was holding and so they probably went over there and they searched her and then they found shit and so that's why I get it because Snow would have got away and if that fucking [unclear].

Conversation: Jael Law

CONVERSATION CONTEXT

Heather, you talk to Jael about making bad choices and learning from them. You admit you have made mistakes yourself. You explain that people act based on what they have learned, and that hard experiences can teach them what to do differently next time.

SELECTED TRANSCRIPT EXCERPTS

Trust, trust me.

I am number one for making bad choices.

So I do.

I am responsible for my choices and I tend to be responsible for my situations, I put myself into a very a bad judge of character.

… Same thing goes for us we are truly we only know what we were taught so don't be so harsh on yourself it's just a lesson to be learned so every every bad situation you go through and everything that you go through everything just take it as a learning lesson just sit back pay attention and think how could you prevent this or what could you do to make it better or how not to get yourself in that situation next time that's all we could do you know what I'm saying love you bye.

Heather, someone has brought up Anthony Bradford's account of seeing you with N.O. at the Crown Inn. You reject that account. You say you were not with N.O. after the shooting involving George. You point to the fact that you are not on a witness list as part of your explanation.

EDITED TRANSCRIPT

No, I don't know what you're talking about, Sam, because after he shot fucking George, he was nowhere to be seen, or nowhere even around.

The only one that knew where he was was Amy, and if I had been anywhere around, you know, during that time, they would have me on the fucking witness list wanting me to go testify against him.

For some reason, I'm not on the witness list because I was not with N.O., but there's a lot of motherfuckers that are on that witness list, but I'm not nowhere on that witness list because I was not ever with N.O..

Heather, you continue explaining why you believe the reported timeline is wrong. You deny being with N.O. around the time of the shooting. Again, you say that investigators would have contacted you if you had been present.

EDITED TRANSCRIPT

I never disappeared, but you know, I was never seen N.O., I was never seen N.O., after the fucking motel. I was never seen, you know, anytime during the fucking deal that he had with that guy George or whatever.

So no, that's not right.

And like I said, they're, they call it a everyone or anyone that was around in a few months before or maybe a couple of months before the shooting happened and definitely anyone that was seen or with him after the shooting happened.

And like I said, I'm nowhere on that witness list to testify. And there's a lot of people on that list, but no, if I was anywhere around him or with him, I would definitely have been called up there to testify.
